

How to Measure Students for Gowns

High School Graduation Gown Measuring

Gown Measuring

In this practical guide, we've shared a few useful techniques for gown measurements, so your school students look their best on its day. |

Set Up a Height Chart

Set Up a Height Chart

First, you need an accurate way to measure your height, such as a height chart that you can tape to a wall. Knowing your height is extremely important if you want to order a gown that fits. Once you've set up a height chart, stand up straight with your back pressed against the wall, just like how your parents measured your height when you were a kid. If you don't have a height chart, you can ask a friend to help you with a tape measure.

Weigh Yourself with an Accurate Scale

Weigh Yourself with an Accurate Scale

Next, you need to provide a weight measurement so that the gown isn't too loose or tight. Most graduation rental services only need your height and weight unless you're ordering a custom-tailored outfit. Luckily, you can obtain these measurements at home, without requiring a second person's help.

